MIMZ

BIO

Amber Mimz. Singer. Songwriter. Producer is a native Washingtonian, artist and nomad at heart who strongly believes in creating your own path to see your deepest desires come to fruition. A trained musician of Duke Ellington School of the Arts and The New School University (Jazz and Contemporary Music), Mimz understands the importance of humility in creating. Since her breakout mixtape in 2009 "Thoughts While Getting Dressed", followed by "Urban Romance Sessions EP" in 2010, Mimz has never looked back. By 2011 she'd performed across the country. From stages in DC's renowned U street arts district to SOB's in New York City to D'Jango's in Atlanta all the way west to La Pena in Berkley, CA her mission was for people to know who Amber Mimz is. Her demurely explicit yet catchy thought-provoking lyrics coupled with original production fused with hip-hop, soul, pop, jazz influenced the self-proclaimed Urban Romantic movement

"If you're egotistical, music can't use you and I want to be used up. "

Influenced by modern artist like D'Angelo, Erykah Badu and Outkast to legendary creative's like Pink Floyd, The Rotary Connection and Roy Ayers, Amber just wants to share music... good... music. So the movement continues. With the release of her first full length album "The Life of Riley" in December 2013 and after a two year hiatus Mimz re-emerges with more inspiration and musicality than ever! "Its fresh, innovative but more importantly... its simply real, especially for where I am as a person right now" says Mimz. Recording the album in sunny California surely inspired sounds and content that is quite evident thru ought the 10 song release written, produced & performed by Amber. Having the album mixed by Grammy Award Winning Engineer, Jeff Ellis (Channel Orange, Frank Ocean) was just the sugar to make it all a bit sweeter.

The ability to connect humans through sound is a gift and she has a way of creating something soulful, something innovative yet familiar, something fresh and full of perspective. From the melody to the lyrics, to drum patterns to chord changes and effects to silence she is a storyteller who see's sounds and rawly shares emotion through her music. Her spunky yet intimate live shows, writings, production and leading the reigns creatively with all things within her brand, she is so excited to share "The Life of Riley" with the world in hopes that they to, will find there "life of Riley" and live it to the fullest!
